Speed of Air Hyperperformance Pistons won the prestigious SEMA award for “BEST NEW PERFORMANCE-STREET PRODUCT 2024”. Being acknowledged with this award, taking first over 174 new products submitted, greatly solidifies the Speed of Air design for this breakthrough line of pistons.

Chris Parkhurst, CEO of Speed of Air, commented, "It's an honor to receive this award and especially for recognition of our unique piston designs. Congratulations to Speed of Air's President. Joe Malta, the inventor of the piston. My thanks to Chris Sulprizio, President of UEM Pistons, for his company's support in manufacturing and helping us launch our line."

United Engine and Machine has been exclusively licensed by Speed of Air Technologies to apply its patented process to the entire UEM piston line.

The Speed of Air design enables internal combustion engines to operate with better fuel efficiency, better performance and with substantially decreased emissions output. Speed of Air technology is applicable across all performance, industrial and transportation sectors and will function with all fuel types. The performance gains are achieved without exotic fuels or use of any after-gas device.

Now offering Complete Engine Kits for all GM Duramax, Dodge Cummins and Ford Powerstroke Mid-Duty Diesel Engines.
